Hello friend,
I'm Eve!

I live and breathe design and creating is my passion. Dot + Pop Design Blog was my first baby, I love sharing my tips on renovating, taking my audience inside homes that capture the modern Australian lifestyle and showcasing products that I discover through my styling work within the industry. The result is a community of design lovers who engage and connect with each other through their shared desire to make their house a home that they love.

Through my business, Dot + Pop, I have worked with numerous brand partners to bring engaging content to life. As a UGC Creator I have the skills, knowledge and experience to create the right content for your brand.

If you'd like to hear how I can create content to effectively and authentically engage with your audience as well as help you build your brand and your community please get in touch.
